

The right EMR Solution can help your staff and physicians become more productive while improving service to patients

Pragmedic Clinical Informatics Solution

Our Electronic Medical Record (EMR) streamlines patient information management and enables practice-wide clinical workflow automation. A flexible and easily customizable solution, our EHR delivers both clinical and financial benefits. Pragmedic's EHR organizes communication and chart information within the practice and with outside practitioners. It also manages orders, procedures, prescriptions, lab results and other data that traditionally rely on many people for collation into the patient chart.

Using wireless handheld devices, Table PC's or desktop workstations, our EMR solution can automate the most common physician activities including prescribing, capturing charges, ordering labs, viewing results, providing patient education, and taking clinical notes. The modular design of suite will allow each application to operate on its own or integrate with other modules.

Pragmedic EMR combines the power of Smart Client Technology and Pragmedic's proven architecture to give you one full-circle, seamless patient information management solution from a single, proven source. Built on a single intelligent platform, Pragmedic EMR boasts a unified database and offers the most advanced clinical functionality.
